

Soil Manifold

- Accepts up to four waste water pipes without the need to change, cut or adapt inlets
- Pipes can easily be removed to facilitate inspection
- Unused inlets can be blanked off using the caps provided
- Internal design ensures that pipe inputs cannot flow into each other
- Design allows for thermal expansion of the soil pipe and inlet pipes
- The push fit principle means no solvent glues are required during installation

The Soil Manifold from Fernco provides an effective solution for the connection of up to four waste water inputs into a single soil system.

The Soil Manifold from Fernco provides an effective solution for the connection of up to four waste water inputs into a single soil system.

The product is designed for installation into 100 & 110mm soil stacks and provides a safe and secure connection for 32mm, 40mm & 50mm waste water pipes.

More Features & Benefits

- High quality PVC and EPDM rubber construction for reliability and longevity.
- Capped inlets allow for future usage if new waste water connections are installed.
- Effectively channels water, ensuring good flow rates through the system.
- Integral pipe end stops – installation is secure and main pipes cannot fall into the connector and obstruct flow.
- Water flow noise is reduced and contained in the connector.
