Permanent access systems

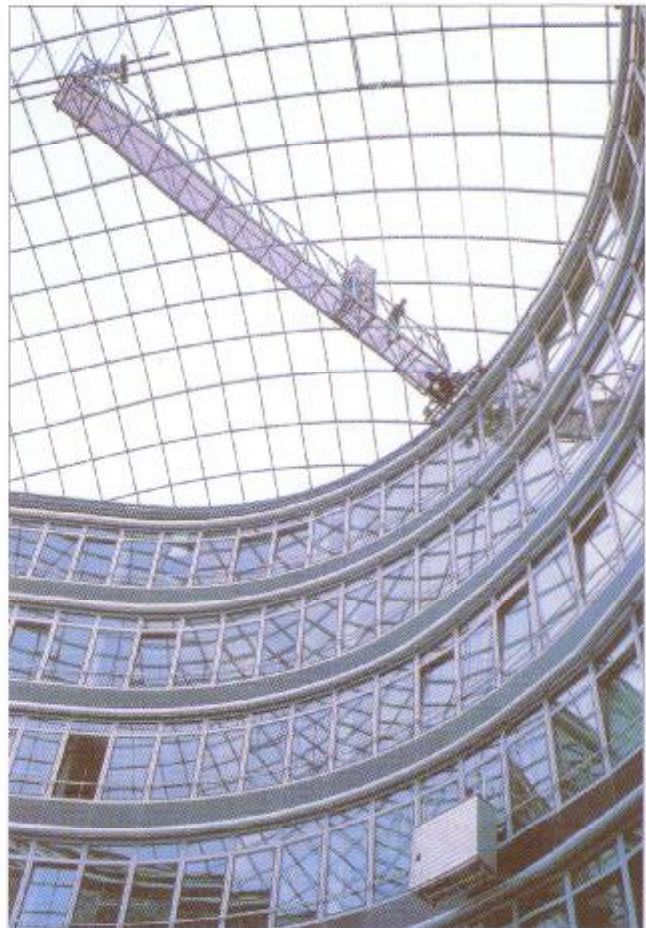

Access to a Higher Standard

Modern building facades require regular attention to maintain their appearance and avoid problems which could result in costly repairs in the future.

For new and existing buildings only the best equipment you can specify will do. Considerable experience in this specialist field enables us to offer solutions to most access problems.

From a simple davit to a sophisticated power operated system sound technology, sensitive design and the highest manufacturing standards are among the features that put PK access systems in a class of their own.

Illustrated here is a selection from the comprehensive Zarges range of high quality gantry systems already installed and complying with the latest international safety standards.
